A POEM FOR RUINED HEART

We have stolen what once was theirs,
And God had said, "Thou shalt not steal,"
We have stolen. Is it that fair?
Theflower of peace was destroyed.

And in its place, instead, have we
Seen the seeds of discontent?
Who were we to play the role of He,
Someone greater than lonely man?

There is little that we've left
To those who owned this great land,
Except memories of this theft
And misery in the present time.

In the place of towering pines
Grow tall stainless steel skyscrapers,
Forming city straight black lines
Overshadowing the sun's bright rays.

Where they now exist in sorrow,
Sweat on wrinkled brows,
Men sigh and say to their foes
America is beautiful no longer.

...In peace, harmony and love,
J.G.

*Those people have made many rules that the rich may break but the poor may not. They take taxes from the poor and weak to support the rich and those who rule.
They claim this mother of ours, the earth, for their own and fence their neighbors away they deface her with their buildings and refuse*.
