about this Book

The rare books in the collections of Pitts Theology Library are filled with woodcuts, etchings, and illustrations. In the pages of this coloring book, you will find some of the favorites from the library's collections selected by the Pitts Theology Library staff. Some have been chosen for their beauty and artistic achievement. Some have been chosen for their complex and probing interpretation of a text. But some have been chosen because they are simply strange and unexpected. Regardless of the criteria for curation, we hope you will enjoy considering and coloring these images. Perhaps an image will lead you to seek its source and learn more about the interpretation. Perhaps an image will invite your own reflection on a text or an event. Or perhaps coloring an image will simply give you an opportunity to relax. We hope you will visit the Pitts Digital Image Archive (pitts.emory.edu/dia) to browse thousands more images.
