#ColorOurCollections

New York
Public
Library

The New York Public Library has enhanced access to all public domain items in Digital Collections so that everyone has the freedom to enjoy and reuse these materials in almost limitless ways. For all such items, the Library now makes it possible to download the highest resolution images available directly from the Digital Collections website. This means more than 187,000 items (and growing) are free to use without restriction, no permission required!

As a way to introduce you to these collections and inspire new works, the Library has developed a suite of projects and tools to help you explore the vast collections and dive deep into specific ones.

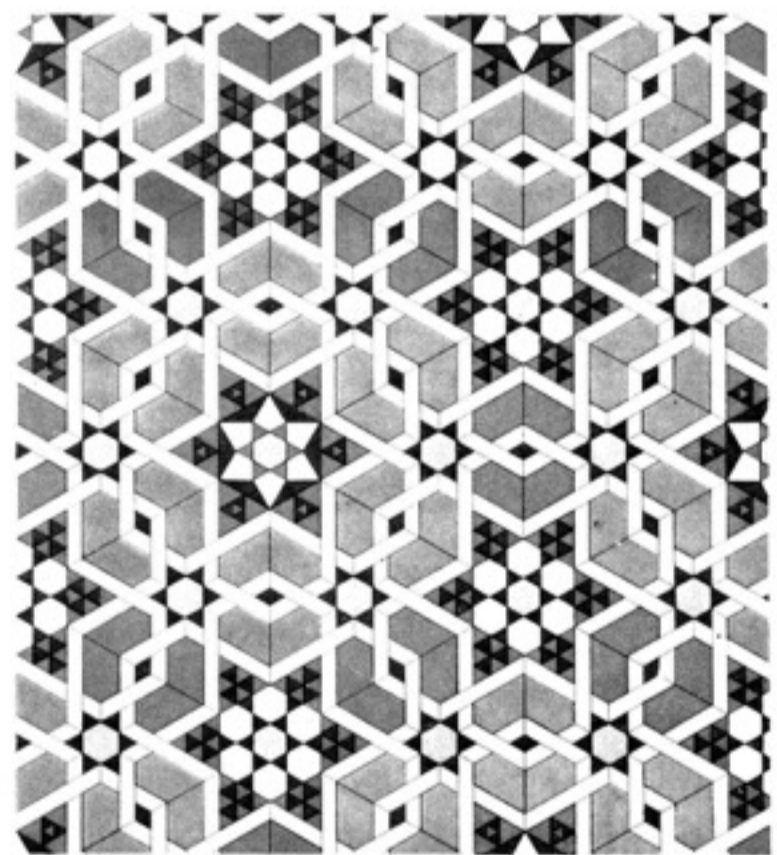

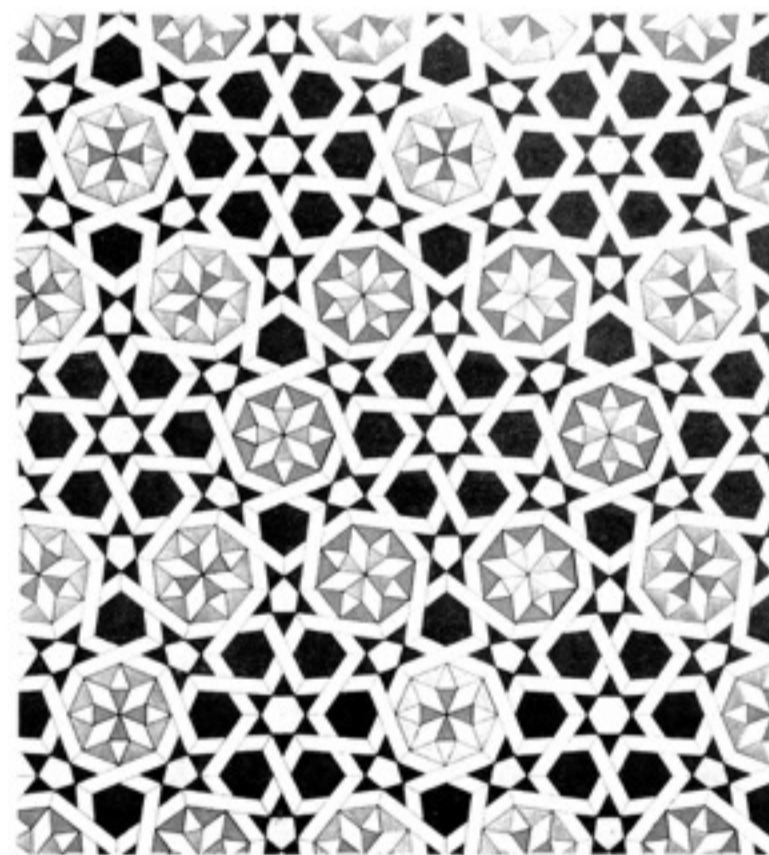

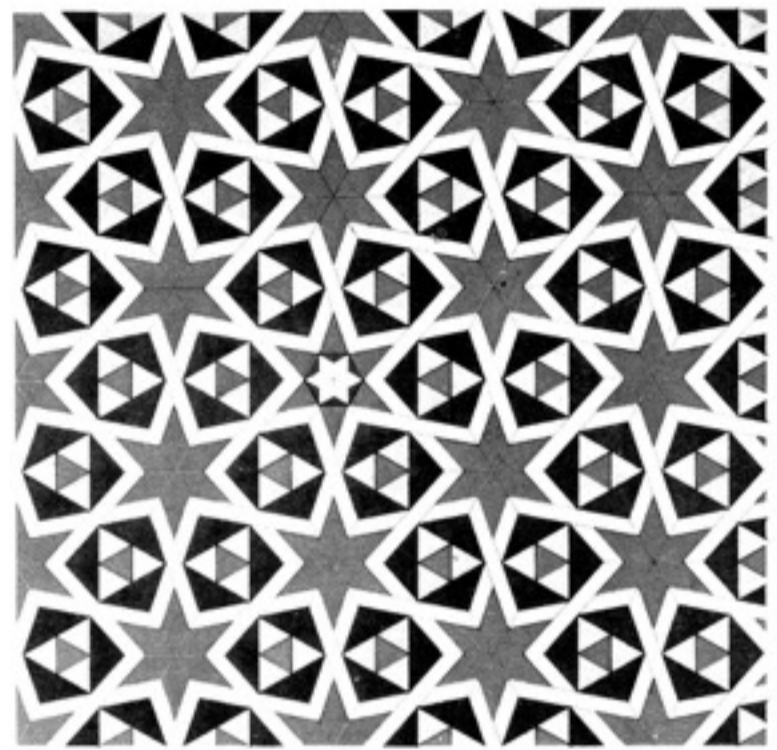

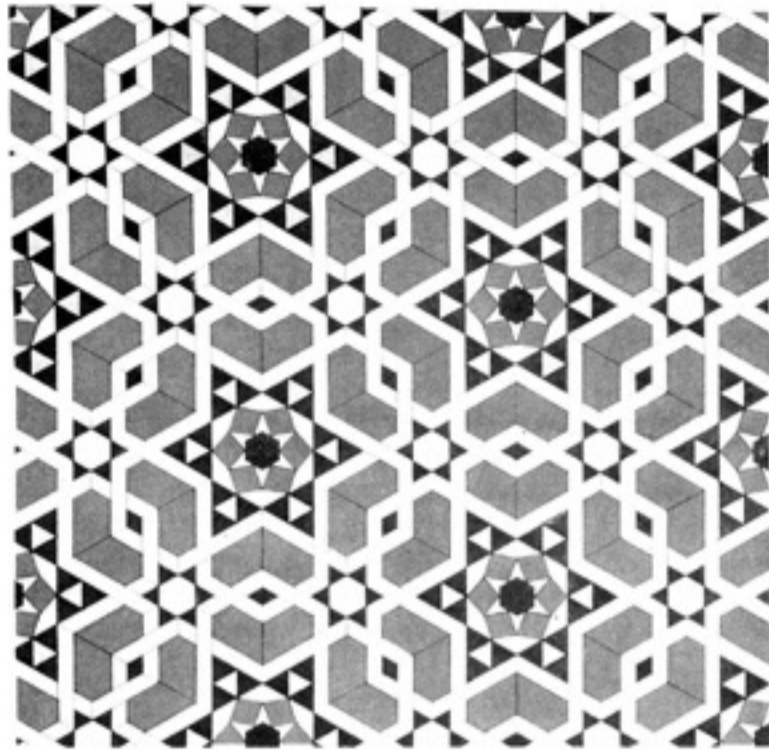

Share your colorful creations with us @NYPL, using the #ColorOurCollections hashtag.
